Huge tractor-trailer type truck which jack-knifed and rolled over on its side in front of the William "Bud" Rink residence east of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway this morning at 5:30 o'clock. The truck was loaded with about five tons of produce consigned to Dixon and Sterling food stores.

Communities Near Los Angeles Closed To Men in Service

Riots Between Service Men and Zoot-Suiters Are Cause of Order

Los Angeles, June 10.—(AP)—Service men and zoot-suited juvenile gangsters clashed in new pitched battles in outlying districts today, and a young woman was attacked by three girls on a downtown street and badly slashed in an assault, which police said may or may not have been an outgrowth of the five-day warfare.

The woman, Betty Morgan, said she was taking a morning walk and had approached the entrance to the Third street tunnel, when three girls, wearing black skirts merged and said "Let's get her."

Black skirts often are worn by the "Black Widow" gang of girls who in the past have accompanied their zooter boy friends on their depredations.

"One jumped on my back," said Miss Morgan. "A second tackled me around the legs, and a third struck me. Then the one slashed me with a knife or razor."

Hysterical and bleeding badly from the face, she was treated at a receiving hospital and taken home.

Communities Closed

Nearly a dozen communities along the rim of far-flung Los Angeles were closed to U. S. seamen, Marines and Coast Guardsmen today after Navy officials expanded their out-of-bounds area in an effort to forestall future disorders between service men and zoot-suiters—clashes which have drawn the attention of the state department and the Mexican embassy.

Navy enlisted men—except when armed with special passes—have been barred from Los Angeles since the disturbances reached a climax Monday night, when 50 wearers of long coats and sausage-shaped trousers were disrobed by bands of soldiers and sailors who held the zoot-suited gentry responsible for recent alleged beatings, robberies and indignities inflicted upon service men.

Outbreaks had dwindled to isolated cases in outlying areas last night, police reported.

Hours' Fight in Watts

In suburban Watts a band of some 125 zooters and other juveniles clashed with approximately 90 service men, mostly sailors and Marines, police said. The fighting raged more than an hour, police said, and a number of the youths were de-trostered before military police reserves succeeded in quelling the riot.

Trainmen on interurban cars passing through the Watts area told police their cars were stoned on nearly every trip. No one was reported hurt.

In nearby Azusa a 15-year-old boy, said to have been tossing gasoline flares into a theater, was shot in the leg by a special officer.

In Los Angeles' Boyle Heights a zoot-suited mob assembled early today and was dispersed without violence by police armed with riot guns.

Governor Makes Plea

Mayor Fletcher Bowron declared in a radio address that local government authority has not broken down.

Gov. Earl Warren, from Sacramento, urged law enforcement officers, citizens and service men to join in a movement to quell street fighting in which 500 zooters and service men have been jailed and

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Whether the volcanic island fortress of Pantelleria has been occupied by allied forces, as is rather vaguely reported in some quarters in London, the fact remains that the preliminaries to invasion not only of this small island but of Europe as a whole already are under way.

Just as in the case of an offensive by an army on land, intensive bombardment of enemy positions precedes the zero hour when the men swarm "over the top". The more thorough the advance preparation, the easier and less costly the final assault.

So we are in process of ironing out the axis, and in this sense the invasion of the continent actually is under way.

However, I think we shall do well if we don't let our blood pressures run too high in anticipation of quick results in the larger fields.

It should be remembered that the liabilities are likely to be much greater in amphibious operations than in attacks carried out entirely on land. Landing operations may entail a terrible loss of life, ships and material unless most careful preparations are made. That fact undoubtedly will be a great factor in guiding the plans of the allied high command.

Of course, the possibility of a considerable lapse of time before major invasions occur doesn't necessarily mean that we shall not see some fairly quick action. It's possible that Pantelleria and Lampedusa and even the bigger Italian islands of Sicily and Sardinia might come under assault by landing forces at any time. Still, it seems fairly obvious that the allied command is proceeding methodically and doesn't intend to be rushed.

British Prime Minister Churchill says "it is evident that amphibious operations of a peculiar complexity and hazard on a large scale are approaching." That's good news, and not unexpected, but you will note that he doesn't say when the zero hour will be. That storm may be a tiny cloud-dot on the horizon as yet.

Probably the prime minister doesn't know when the major action will take place. It must depend on developments. It might

Chinese, Bayoneted in Hospital by Atrocious Japanese, Manage Escape

An American Base in India—(AP)—Three bedraggled, footsore, half-starved Chinese have reached this base eight months after the Japanese bayoneted them and 50 other wounded members of the Chinese Fifth Army in their hospital beds at Shingbiyang, Burma.

They reported that seven other Chinese were able to crawl into the jungle after the enemy had left them for dead, but only the three survived.

The following day, they said—and their story is vouched for by American, British and Chinese officers who investigated—the Japanese returned and burned the hospital to the ground around the still-living patients.

The commander of this base said: "For sheer guts these Chinese would be hard to beat."

Critics of Subsidy Program Preparing for Congress Fight

Drive Under Way to Exert Will of Nation's Elected Law Makers

(By The Associated Press) . Washington, June 10.—On three important issues, a drive apparently was under way in congress today to exert the will of the legislative body over that of the executive branch.

The trend, gathering momentum in congress, developed in the course of action on government subsidies for rolling back prices, anti-strike legislation, and a proposal for getting rid of surplus material when the war ends.

Prodded by mounting criticism of the subsidy program of the Office of Price Administration (OPA), the senate banking committee called on price officials for full particulars. Critics of the proposal to pay wholesalers and distributors subsidies so consum-

Transport Blocks Highway to Dixon

A big tractor-trailer type transport truck owned by the firm of A. Salavitch & Son, Chicago trucking firm, swerved across the Lincoln Highway and overturned across the paving directly in front of the William "Bud" Rink residence east of Dixon this morning at 5:30 o'clock. The driver, Ben Klein of Chicago, reported that as he was approaching Dixon, a light truck, east bound, forced him off the paving, causing the trailer to jack-knife and roll over on its side. Klein was uninjured but experienced some difficulty in crawling out of the cab of the tractor.

State police expressed an opinion that the truck driver fell asleep, as the tracks of the truck indicated that it had swerved from the north side of the highway, across the paving onto the shoulder and then back onto the highway when it rolled over. The truck carried about five tons of produce consigned to Dixon and Sterling stores. Heavy traffic had to be detoured until the truck could be righted. Sergeant George Ives of the state police force conducted an investigation of the accident.

Showdown Fight on Merger of Illinois Relief Setup Nears

Neither Side Pulls Its Punches or Indicating It Will Retreat

Springfield, Ill., June 9.—(AP)—The rebellion of state Welfare Director Rodney H. Brandon against Governor Green's administration leaders who favor consolidation of state relief and assistance programs under the Illinois Public Aid Commission headed today for a showdown fight on the house floor, with neither side pulling punches or indicating it will retreat.

Senator T. MacDowling's bill to effect the merger plan was recommended for passage late yesterday by the house public welfare committee, 10 to 7, after a two-hour hearing in which numerous witnesses spoke for and against the legislation.

Governor Green's legislative leaders announced after a house GOP conference with the governor that they would "press for passage without change." Rep. Harold D. Kelsey (R-Barrington), house sponsor, said he was confident the lower chamber would give swift endorsement by a larger margin than the measures obtained last week in the senate.

The legislation would transfer administration of old age assistance and aid to dependent children payments from Brandon's welfare department to the Illinois Public Aid Commission.

The house welfare committee roll call showed Republican representatives Bernice T. Van Der Vries of Winnetka and David I. Swanson of Chicago joining five Democrats in opposing the proposed merger.

Green has not publicly endorsed the bills, but Republican house members said he gave tacit approval at the conference, although they said "he threw it right back in our laps." The governor, conferees said, reiterated that he favors the principle of aid consolidation.

Speaking in favor of the bills before the committee were Edward L. Ryerson, Chicago steel company executive, who is chairman of the Public Aid Commission; Raymond M. Hilliard, Chicago, IPAC executive secretary; Harold Baker, East St. Louis, IPAC member, and Edward L. Scheibel, Streator, president of the State Association of Supervisors and County Commissioners.

Ryerson argued that the IPAC would give the assistance programs "the best coordination and control—more intelligently and more fairly than any other medium." Scheibel said that county officers "would have a voice."

Stoutly defending Brandon's administration and opposing the bills were representatives of the Illinois League of Women Voters, the Illinois Welfare Association, the Illinois Society for Prevention of Blindness, the United Charities of Chicago, the Women's City Club of Chicago, Townsend clubs, state CIO and AFL groups, and the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

They contended that the programs need a single code depart-

Dixonites See Parade by Army in Sterling

Several from Dixon went to Sterling last evening and witnessed the Army parade and show. During the sham battle two of the soldiers were injured when a mortar shell exploded prematurely. Both were taken to the Sterling hospital where upon examination it was found they suffered only from minor cuts and burns. After being treated at the hospital, both were dismissed and accompanied the detachment which proceeded to Kewanee this afternoon.

Among Dixonites in the throng were Mayor William V. Slothower, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Rice, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Owens and Mrs. William Harkins. Dixon Legionnaires and Veterans of Foreign Wars marched in the parade.

Draft-Age Fathers Expected Safe for Time Being, Anyway

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—A draft-age father's chances of being inducted into the armed forces before next year appeared today to be about 17 out of 100.

And the chances next year may be even lower unless heavy casualties require unexpectedly large replacements.

Farmer fathers generally will be deferred for occupational reasons, but the outlook for others sums up like this on the basis of latest War Manpower Commission-Selective service figures:

Drafting of those with children born before last Sept. 15 is not expected to begin before Aug. 1, and even if it starts then it is unlikely to become general and heavy for another month at least.

There are nearly 6,000,000 draft age (non-farm) fathers—only about 4,000,000 of them at most could be expected to be physically acceptable—and the armed services will take in but about 1,500,000 men in all between Aug. 1 and Jan. 1, 1944.

Toward making up this 1,500,000, the services get around 70,000 of the 100,000 becoming 18 years old each month, and should net 350,000 from this source from August on, not counting the youths past 18 who were deferred to the end of the school year.

At least 150,000 more inductees will come from the ranks of single or childless married men, especially as occupational deferments expire for men in that class and the drafting of fathers increases pressure to get men without children out of the shops and into uniform.

With 500,000 or more inductees available from other classes, only 1,000,000 fathers at most will be needed in the ranks, although perhaps twice as many may be called for physical examinations.

The outlook for 1944 naturally is less certain, but if 150,000 men monthly would provide enough replacements for casualties on and off the battlefields—a fair allowance in the eyes of some military men—the draft picture would fill out like this:

To meet the 12-month requirement of 1,800,000 men, there should be about 850,000 youths newly turned 18 plus a sizeable group of childless men with occupational deferments expiring from week to week, leaving a gap of less than one million to be made up by fathers.

In addition, women taken in by the services count as much toward making up the total strength as do men and, with commanding officers calling for more WAACS, WAVES and SPARS as the women prove their capability, the number of women in uniforms is expected to grow steadily.

Radio Station WMAQ to Pay Tribute to Dixon

Chicago, June 10.—A tribute to the city of Dixon, a community with a fascinating history, will be presented on the Chicago & North-Western Railway Company's "400" hour program over station WMAQ on Saturday, June 12, between 7 and 8 a. m.

Patsy Gallicchio, announcer on the program, will tell of the highlights in the history of Dixon, which saw its beginning in a river ferry service almost 120 years ago. He will tell of the time when Dixon was the stopping place for famous Americans of days gone by, when Indians were more of a problem than an attraction.

Dixon is one of many midwestern communities with fascinating histories to which tribute is being paid on the "400" hour.

Mrs. Ella Howard Free From Murder Charge

Tulsa, Okla., June 10.—(AP)—Freed yesterday in the fatal shooting of Mrs. T. Karl Simmons, wife of the wealthy Tulsa oil man who had given her diamonds and money, Mrs. Ella B. Howard dried her tears and said she plans a quiet life with her two children and her mother.

She wept as the jury verdict was returned last night after an hour and 50 minutes of deliberation. It ended a day of tense drama in the manslaughter trial of the 44-year-old Fort Worth divorcee.

During the day Mrs. Howard had told of her struggle with Mrs. Simmons in a room of the swank Mayo hotel on March 25—a struggle that ended in the death of the Tulsa woman.

Simmons, from the witness stand, had admitted giving Mrs. Howard $20,000, diamonds and other gifts, "because I wanted to."

Pantelleria Kept Under Shattering Attack During Day

Italy Enters Its Fourth Year of War Threatened With Invasion

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Shattering new assaults on Italy's "Gibraltar" at Pantelleria and a British Commando attack on Lampedusa island were announced by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters today, while in London the belief persisted that momentous operations were imminent.

"Official news of landing expected this morning," said Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express, headlining the siege of Pantelleria.

The volcanic little island, athwart the trans-Mediterranean invasion route to Sicily and the Italian mainland, underwent its 18th successive day of aerial attack yesterday after rejecting an allied ultimatum for unconditional surrender.

At the same time, American heavy bombers from the Middle East kept up the pounding of Italy's Sicilian stronghold, blasting the airbase at Gerbini and the town of Catania, and RAF planes swept over the Aegean sea to strafe Axis ships off Nazi-occupied Greece.

Italian headquarters listed 41 killed and 91 injured in an attack by multi-engined bombers at Catania.

Confirming previous axis reports, allied headquarters announced that British Commandos raided Lampedusa island, 80 miles south of Pantelleria, on Monday apparently as part of the "war of nerves" against invasion-worried Italy.

Accomplish Mission

A communique said the Commandos encountered fire from two field guns and machine guns on the beach in Monday's attack, but suffered few casualties and withdrew after accomplishing their mission. Other developments at-a-glance:

Jap Dead on Attu Now Put at 1,845

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The Navy reported today a new air attack against the enemy air base at Munda on the New Georgia island in the central Solomons of the South Pacific and said also that known enemy losses on Attu island in the Aleutians now stand at 1,845 men killed and 20 taken prisoner.

Navy communique No. 405: "South Pacific (all dates east longitude).

"1. On June 9th, during the afternoon, Flying Fortress (Boeing B-17) heavy bombers escorted by Warhawk (Curtis P-40) and Lightning (Lockheed P-38) fighters, bombed Japanese positions at Munda, on New Georgia island in the central Solomons. No United States losses were sustained.

"North Pacific:

"2. On June 9th. During the day, nineteen more of the enemy were killed on Attu. In addition five prisoners were taken."

Prior to today the Navy had announced the killing of 1,826 Japanese on Attu and the capture of 15. Only a few stragglers remain on that Aleutian island.

The attack on Munda was one of a series aimed at keeping that field nearest to American positions in the Russell islands and on Guadalcanal out of effective operation.

Illinois Senators, Like Motherly Hens Flock Together to Save Young Chicks

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—(AP)—Like motherly hens, Illinois senators flocked together yesterday in an effort to save chicks from being squeezed by playful people.

The upper house brooded for 20 minutes on the question of "returning to our feathered friends a little kindness" and then crowded unanimous approval of a bill to make unlawful the artificial coloring of chicks. The measure now wings its way to the house.

"Little kiddies and even grown people just can't resist picking up and squeezing the tummies of colored chicks," explained Senator Earle B. Searcy (R-Springfield), who pulled a couple of green-dyed young fryers from under his desk to illustrate his point.

Sponsor Ray Paddock (R-Round Lake) stoutly denied that his bill was "lame duck" legislation and reassured senators "you can squeeze spring chickens all you like." Lipstick and rouge aren't prohibited, he said.

Paddock pointed out that while meat is rationed, it's a good idea to protect chickens. His bill carries a $100 fine as a penalty.

Accepted

Camp Grant, Ill., June 10.—(AP)—Radio listeners who heard a soldier's proposal of marriage broadcast from coast to coast may be interested to know that Helen Barus, 20, of Milltown, N. J., answered "Yes."

A radio performer on a visit to this camp asked soldiers to submit messages to their loved ones for his next program. Pvt. Joseph W. Moscar, 20, turned in a picture of Miss Barus with a short note written on the back.

The next Sunday Joe's note was read on the air. He had asked, "Helen, darling, I love you. Will you marry me?"

Helen heard the broadcast. When Joe telephoned the next day her greeting was "The answer is yes."

The wedding will be during Joe's next furlough.

Helfrich Is Given His Freedom from Security Hospital

The first of four habeas corpus proceedings filed by inmates of the Illinois Security hospital at Menard was presented before Judge George C. Dixon in the Lee county Circuit court today and was halted abruptly by the introduction into the examination of Managing Officer Lew Wallace of the institution by counsel for Edward Helfrich, 20, of this city. The sudden halt in the first of the four hearings came when Superintendent Wallace at the request of Judge Dixon, read a report of Dr. Barrick, state criminologist, and Dr. Gage, psychiatrist, which recommended Helfrich's release, following an examination in which it was found that he was not feeble minded.

The four petitions are from inmates of the Illinois Security hospital at Menard, who have been committed to that institution from Lee county courts. Attorneys E. E. Wingert and Mark C. Keller, appointed by the court to appear for Helfrich, were present in court today in the hearing of the first of the cases, which are being taken in the order of their filing.

Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, state alienist of Chicago, and Wallace of the Menard institution were prominent defendants named in the petitions. At the first hearing, Helfrich testified in defense of his petition seeking release from the security hospital. He testified that he was committed from the Lee County court about three years ago to the Lincoln state school and colony by Judge Grover Gehant for treatment as feeble minded. At this institution, he stated, he was informed by the managing officer upon his being received that he would be liberated within a period about 60 days.

Ran Away, Captured

After remaining four months, he continued, he ran away from his ward and hid in a field, having been absent for about one hour before being retaken. At no time during this period, he testified, was he off the institution grounds. Upon being returned, he told the court that an employe whom he knew as Ellis, attempted to beat him with a black jack, whereupon he defended himself and was struck but once. He was then placed in a jail ward where he remained for 61 days before being released. In response to questions by his counsel, Helfrich stated that he submitted to no examinations before his transfer to Menard, and that while working in a basement on the morning of July 5, 1941, attendants placed handcuffs on him and another inmate, then removed them in an automobile to Menard. At no time, he stated, was he served with orders of transfer.

At the security hospital, he continued, he worked as cook in the kitchen of the guards' dining hall

Declares Striking Miners Are To Pay Fines for Time Off

Union Officials State Action Will Provoke Men To New Move

By The Associated Press
Washington, June 10.—(AP)—John L. Lewis' coal miners were told by the government today they will be fined $1 a day for their June 1-5 walkout—and a West Virginia union official said promptly: "This means another walkout."

The union man, an official of the United Mine Workers district 31 at Fairmont, withheld use of his name, but he said the miners "would not stand for" the fines.

At Harlan, Ky., where about 1,350 miners still are idle and are "waiting for a wage contract to be signed, a United Mine Workers representative would not be quoted by name said the fine "will just inflame the men and make them walk out again."

In another development, the mine workers were disclosed to have won over Central Pennsylvania operators to a daily pay raise of $1.30.

Ikkes, as federal boss of the mines, told of the fine. Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the Central Pennsylvania operators announced to the War Labor Board that his group had agreed on the $1.30 figure for settling the portal-to-portal pay demand of the miners.

Covers 65,000 Miners

Lewis had sought $2. The Association covers mines with about 65,000 men in all.

O'Neill's organization withdrew from the joint wage conference yesterday but attended the WLB hearing to announce his agreement with Lewis. The other Appalachian operators reported the failure of their negotiations with the miners. The UMW was not represented at the hearing.

O'Neill told the board his objective was to restore peace. "I am not interested," O'Neill said, "in waiting till kingdom come to see what the Supreme court said about it (portal-to-portal pay) and accumulating a liability that will strangle the industry."

He said travel time was calculated at an average of an hour a day for inside men. At time and one half, this would amount to $1.50 under the basic rate. Distributed evenly among all employees, outside as well as inside, the basis of $1.30 was reached for both types of workers.

"The mine workers," said Burke, "have been unyielding in their position that travel time must be paid for at contract rates for productive work. This position is entirely unsupported in law and is opposed to reason. Furthermore, it is the position of the operators that the factor of travel has been taken into consideration in fixing the contract rate; hence, a separate payment for travel time would result in double payment for such time."

"The contract rate for productive work varies according to the work performed. It is not reasonable that one worker should be paid for riding at a rate different than the worker sitting next to him. Even if the law could be construed to require the time spent in this underground travel to be considered as working time, and even if the operators were not already paying for travel time in the present rates, it could not in any event be reasonably considered as working at loading coal, track laying, or other physical or skilled labor."

Pact Affirmed Last Night

The piecemeal pact was affirmed last night by both Lewis and Charles O'Neill, spokesman for northern operators, who in this case was acting only for the Central Pennsylvania group which operates in the Clearfield belt.

Lewis said he was ready to offer the same terms to the other operators, employing 450,000 men. The labor chieftain said he believed they would accept unless "there is political and financial interference with the producers of coal of labor tonnage." He didn't explain this statement.

The separate agreement must be approved by the War Labor Board which called a public hearing today on all the phases of the entire row. Lewis, who has ignored the WLB, conceded that the settlement was subject to "all properly authorized government agencies." With WLB approval, the pact could form a basis for general peace in the coal fields, dis-

Fluid Milk Prices in Dixon Area Are Increased by Order

Office of Price Administration Issues Edict Effective Today

The Lee County War Price and Rationing Board today announced the following adjustment of fluid milk prices for the Dixon area:

As a result of competition from condenseries located near Dixon, distributors of milk in the Dixon area have found it necessary to increase the price paid to producers from $2.03 per cwt. in March 1942 to $2.70 per cwt. in January 1943. This represents an increase of 67¢ per cwt. or approximately 1 1/4¢ per quart. The accompanying order establishes the price of 13 1/2¢ per quart for sales at retail and 11 1/2¢ per quart at wholesale which, with respect to most sellers, amounts to an increase of 1/2¢ per quart. This is not enough to offset the cost increases but should be sufficient, together with economies in distribution which may be placed into effect, to assure the continuance of operation on the part of the distributor.

On the basis of information submitted it appears that distributors of milk in Dixon cannot be expected to absorb this increase in cost without compensating increases in their prices.

The president's "hold the line" executive order 9328 (8 F. R. 4681) prohibits the Price Administrator from authorizing any increases in the price of commodities affecting the cost of living except to the minimum extent required by law. Full consideration has been given to this mandate in issuing this adjustment. This increase is granted only in the face of a drastic threat to the supply of milk. The adjusted price is the lowest price which will make the sale of milk in Dixon possible. In the absence of an adjustment, there is every reason to believe that an adequate supply of milk will be unavailable except insofar as it could be obtained from remote sources of supply. The purchase of milk from neighboring cities by consumers would involve a total expenditure in terms of money, time and transportation which in the last analysis would increase the cost of living to a greater extent than the adjustment herein granted.

For reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the regional administrator of the Office of Price Administration by section 1499.18(c) of the general maximum price regulation, it is hereby ordered:

(a) Maximum prices:

1. Maximum prices for sale and delivery of fluid milk in bottles and paper containers at wholesale and retail in the Dixon area are hereby established as follows:

Reg. Milk	Wholesale	Retail
Gallon	42 c	50 c
Quart	11 1/2 c	13 1/2 c
1/2 Pt. (bottles)	3 c	5 c
1/2 Pt. (paper)	3 1/2 c	5 c
Chocolate Milk
Quart	12 c	14 c
1/2 pint	3 c	5 c
Buttermilk
Gallon	30 c	36 c
Quart	9 c	11 c
Guernsey Milk
Quart	13 c	15 c
Skim Milk
Gallon	10 c	12 c
Quart	2 c	3 c

2. Where the maximum price set forth above is expressed in terms of a 1/2¢, the price charged for a single unit at retail may be increased to the next even cent.

Acrobatic Star Circus Feature

Gracie Sykes, petite aerial star, pictured above, is one of the stars featured in the program of the big combined Jay Gould Million Dollar Circus which is scheduled for performances on today, tomorrow and Saturday.

Said to be the only one of her sex ever to accomplish such daring feats of the air, who has thrilled all Europe with her skill and daring on the high flying trapeze daily performs her forward somersault through space from the swinging bar many feet above the sawdust covered rings catching the bar on the return by her heels. There are daring and thrilling feats aplenty in the big circus program but the ones provided by Gracie are said to be the most unusual. Watching her slim glimmering form as she slides gracefully through her routine takes a quick eye and a steady nerve and she will leave little to imagine for the "human bird" to accomplish when she has finished her turn.

Jay Gould Million Dollar Circus cast with an army of clowns and the many new and novel circus presentations of the 1943 offering brings to the tented world a touch of the real modern and up-to-date circus, where 2 rings are kept amply active in a modern setting of special lights and comfortable chairs lending a new and pleasing effect to the circus of today.

Home deliveries at retail and all sales at wholesale shall be considered multiple unit sales unless separate collections are made for single units delivered.

(b) Definitions:

1. Sales and deliveries within the Dixon area shall mean:

i. All sales made within the corporate city limits of Dixon and all sales at or from an establishment located in Dixon, and

ii. All sales of fluid milk by any seller at retail or at or from an establishment obtaining the major portion of its supply of milk from a seller at wholesale located within Dixon.

2. Milk shall mean cows' milk having a butterfat content of not less than 3.2 percent or the legal minimum established by statute or municipal ordinance, processed, distributed and sold for consumption in fluid form as whole milk. Sales at wholesale shall for the purposes of this order include all sales to retail stores, restaurants, army camps, prisons, schools, hospitals, and other institutions.

(c) Except as otherwise herein provided, the provisions of the general maximum price regulation shall apply.

(d) This order may be revoked, amended or corrected at any time. This order shall become effective June 10, 1943.

Two Bible Schools Will Open in Dixon Monday Morning

About fifty teachers and helpers met Tuesday morning in the First Baptist church to attend an institute and training school for the community vacation Bible schools to open in Dixon next Monday. Miss Erna Hoelzen, instructor of Christian Education, was in charge, assisted by the Rev. W. J. Martz, chairman of leadership training of the local Council of Christian Education.

Miss Hoelzen spoke to the group on teaching principles, after which the teachers were divided into three groups for discussion of the problems of the various ages.

Two schools will be held this summer, with fourteen churches uniting in this enterprise. All south side children will attend a school in the South Central building of the public schools. The Rev. W. J. Martz will be superintendent of the school, with Miss Grace Jacobs as superintendent of the beginners department; Mrs. W. J. Martz, superintendent of the primary department and Mrs. I. B. Potter, superintendent of the junior department.

Continues Two Weeks

The north side school will meet in the North Central school building with the Rev. R. S. Wilson as superintendent. Charles Johnston will supervise the work of the junior department and Miss Ruth Chiverton the work of the primary department. Mrs. R. S. Wilson and Mrs. N. K. Dietrich will have charge of the beginners' department.

Children will be received from three years through grade school age. The news item of last week was in error when it was stated that children would be received from the third grade up. A nursery and beginners' class will be conducted for three, four and five year olds. First, second and third grade children will be in the primary division, and older grade children in the junior department.

The school will open promptly at 9:00 o'clock next Monday morning and continue until 11:30 a. m. This will continue for two weeks each week day morning except Saturday. There is no charge for the school, as the budget is provided by the community drive for Christian Education. Children who read are asked to bring Bibles, if possible, and their own pencils.

Government Facing Action to Maintain Hog Price at $13.75

FDA Says It Has Every Intention to Fulfill Pledge It Made

Chicago, June 10—(AP)—With the average hog price slumping below $14 a hundred pounds for the first time this year, a representative of the Food Distribution Administration, who asked anonymity, said today the government had "every intention" of holding to its pledge to support the market at $13.75.

The government support level was announced early this year, but it has never been brought into action because, until this week, hogs have sold well above the minimum. In the first three days this week, however, prices slumped about 40 cents and many head sold yesterday at $13.80 a hundred pounds. Average price was about $13.85.

The Food Distribution Administration said the support level was an "average price". Therefore, it said, some hogs could fall below $13.75, but the average price of all hogs sold on any given day would not be permitted to slump below that point. The $13.75 figure applies only to Chicago, with the support level at other cities based upon the Chicago price.

Traders Puzzled

Traders in the livestock market were puzzled over what supporting action the government would take, if it were necessary. While the FDA could buy live hogs, it would have to turn them over to packers for slaughtering, it was pointed out, as the government has no killing facilities of its own. In that case, the FDA presumably would pay the packers a fee to cover slaughtering and dressing expenses.

A more likely method, it was said, would be an increase in purchases of meat by the FDA, acting for the military forces and lend-lease. This would bring indirect support to the hog market. But the puzzling fact here is that it has been known for some time that the FDA has been taking all the meat it could get, and how it could expand such purchases is a problem.

The run of hogs to this market this week has been the heaviest for June in nine years, or since the drought year of 1934 when producers were liquidating hogs because they could not obtain grain to feed them. Observers believe it indicates producers are having difficulty in obtaining corn for feeding purposes.

President of State Bar Assn. Says Post-War Aims Are Needed

Peoria, Ill., June 10—(AP)—Benjamin Wham of Chicago, past president of the Illinois State Bar Association, declared today that it was "vital that we formulate and announce our international post-war plans, insofar as possible, now."

"Naturally, our allies doubt our intentions," Wham, who also is prominent in affairs of the American Bar Association, said in a prepared breakfast address at the state bar group's annual convention.

"We should do all we can now to reassure our allies, and so far as possible, the weary peoples, as distinguished from their leaders, against who we are fighting."

He added, however, that "we cannot overlook the statement by Mr. Churchill that the British empire expects to hold its own or the fact that Mr. Stalin is planning to annex a portion of Poland and perhaps other border countries."

"Obviously, no world organization can succeed unless the participants have a sincere desire to cooperate fully for the preservation of peace. This would necessarily require them to renounce certain national ambitions and advantages in the same way that individuals and states in this country are required to do."

St. Louis, June 10—(AP)—The Mississippi river is being neglected as a transport medium and river shipping is declining while trucks and railroads are operating under excessive burdens, says the St. Louis office of the U. S. Commerce Commission, and the commission urges greater use of the river for civilian merchandise shipment.

The commission reported yesterday that tonnage cargo handled by the Inland Waterways Corporation during the first three months of this year was 19 per cent less than that in the same period last year. The report said "the Mississippi is sitting on the bench."

(By The Associated Press)

EXPENSIVE TOLL ROAD
Mt. Vernon, Ind.—Gus Rose used the only road and bridge he could find during the recent mid-western floods, but in the end it brought him only grief.

Witnesses at a court hearing said the 32-year-old farmer borrowed an automobile, drove it 2 1/2 miles down the Illinois Central railroad tracks and across two trestles when the Wabash river inundated the regular highway.

He was convicted of malicious trespass and fined $25.

REWARD
St. Charles, Mo.—Peter J. Priemeau, who recently filled his house with stray dogs to "save them from the dog catcher", has received official recognition of his role as friend of man's best friend. He was appointed dog catcher.

NEWS
Los Angeles—For a year Mrs. Catherine Mannion worried about the fate of her son Jerome, in the Army. She could get no information.

The other day a woman brought a picture of a group of Jap prisoners into the Mannion photo shop, asking for an enlarged print of her son.

Mrs. Mannion made the print, then called excitedly to her husband:

"Look! Standing by this woman's boy—that's Jerome!"

WHAT, AGAIN?
Salt Lake City—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Swan read with eager interest yesterday the news they were parents of their twin daughters.

They thought the item a bit unusual, however. The twins are now 21 years old.

The mixup, they learned, resulted from new birth certificates they'd obtained; they were dated 1943 instead of 1922.

HOW'S FISHING?
Chicago — There aren't many fish in a water-filled quarry on the far south side but police have landed some big catches.

After three days of grappling, a squad of officers fished out three relatively new automobiles and a new motor truck. All of the machines had been stolen, the policemen said.

The policemen are going to try their luck again.

Liberator Planes Used Against Nazi Submarines

London, June 9—(AP) — The British Air Ministry disclosed today that Liberator bombers with a range of at least 2,000 miles were the airplanes used in the "V. L. R." (very long range) operations against nazi submarines, referred to by Prime Minister Churchill in his address yesterday.

The Liberators are equipped with especially large fuel tanks in order to carry depth charges such great distances, the ministry explained.

The "V. L. R." aircraft operate from bases in the United States in cooperation with other Liberators from bases of the British coastal command in Iceland and Ireland.

Italian Papers, Please Copy

Dear Benito:—We read in the papers that the United Nations are getting under way a diplomatic offensive to get Italy out of the war. We do not profess to be able to foresee how successful this campaign will be, but eventually you are going to get out of the war, so why not now?

There are no places except in the axis countries, Benito, to which you could go for refuge, and it is very probable that the Japs wouldn't want you around. Germany might harbor you—but don't forget that Germany, too is going to get out of the war.

The best refuge for a person like yourself, Benito, is a large, stone hostelry with iron gates and with bars on the windows. In such a place you would be safe from the outside world. There you could contemplate the fizzle which you once boasted would be an empire.

You will remember the day your "glorious" fascist armies marched suddenly against the practically defenseless Ethiopians, and how even then they forced you to resort to chemical warfare to beat them; how your soldiers wired scores of the blacks together and slaughtered them merely for defending their own homes. Some of them were doused with gasoline which was then ignited. Gas is scarcer today, isn't it, Benito?

You will remember, also, that a prominent Italian henchman of yours wrote an article on the beauties of a bombing raid, in which he was pitching the T. N. T. It seems he was reminded of beautiful flowers by the explosions. Well, Benito, the flowers are blooming in Italy nowadays. We hope you and your disciples of violence have not taken to the hills or tall timber so you can enjoy the beauties of the block busters and the fragrance of the fragmentation missiles.

Those who live by violence, Benito, have the reputation of winding up as victims of violence. You have been a disturber of the peace and a creator of uproars ever since you first attracted notice. You were one of the first to upset the rules of the league of nations. You sowed the second sowing of dragons' teeth. You lied when you said your honor was involved, and when you said you were going to "civilize" the Abyssinians. You said it was better to be a dead lion than a living dog—but you were neither, for you played the part of a jackal.

All in all, when it comes to being a Caesar, you have been a terrible bust, so you had better ask that guy Emmanuel to form a new cabinet, and you had better get out for your own sake and that of countless Italians whom you swindled.

There is a trail you might follow—blazed by Rudolf Hess, whom the British received and have been feeding ever since. Food and water are about all you can expect from now on, Benito.

Time was when a man in your position would have taken his stand with the troops and died in action to prove his sincerity—but we were speaking of men, not jackals. We do not pretend to speak for the American people—but those who read this will agree. We suppose you never will see this, but if you wish we will undertake to send you a length of rope which will put you under the balcony instead of on it.

One Safe Test

The National Civil Service Reform League, which long has been a bulwark of the merit system in government employment, adds its voice to protest against the McKellar bill, which would require senate confirmation for all appointments to administrative positions that pay from $4,500 up.

"This proposal," the League warns, "is a direct threat to the war effort. It strikes at the very heart of the merit system principle of selection for public positions. It makes a career system virtually impossible. It places a premium on political connections of persons whose capacity may be mediocre. Those who rely on merit and ability alone are placed at a decided disadvantage."

The intent and the effect of the McKellar bill should be recognized clearly by all who are interested in the efficiency of our mastodon federal government, which has close to three million men and women on its payrolls, exclusive of the armed services.

Ostensibly—and there is not too much reason to go behind the claim—the bill is designed to give congress control over all persons who help to make federal policy.

This desire is increased, if not inspired, by the extent to which, under wartime laws, properly or improperly, the executive departments are making and altering law so that congressmen have no idea what the law may be at any given time.

The bill is aimed at what Senator McKellar and many others regard as usurpation of unconstitutional powers by a vast and expanding bureaucracy. It arouses much sympathy in the public breast.

Nevertheless, its effect, unless human nature has changed overnight, would be to make state and local party leaders the judges as to who should fill every responsible job in Washington. Their judgment inevitably would rest upon the party loyalty and activity of candidates, rather than upon ability to serve the nation in time of stress.

"Senate confirmation," the League warns, "neither prevents over-expansion of personnel nor assures against the appointment of over-zealous and officious bureaucrats. It substitutes one evil for another by inevitably injecting the patronage system."

And the League adds: "The World War has now brought the United States to the point where but one test can safely be applied to our public service—competence."

Gate Crasher

Congressman Bradley of Michigan called the bluff of the Food Conference management when he crashed the gate at Hot Springs, Va. His method may not have been dignified, but nobody yet has found a dignified manner of dealing with the sort of thing the president is trying to do at Hot Springs.

Judge Jones, president of the conference, could have ordered the soldier guard to keep Congressman Bradley out of the Homestead grounds with the same hauteur that would have greeted a newspaperman seeking to inform the taxpaying public what its hired men were doing. But Judge Jones was too wise for that, as Mr. Bradley knew he would be. After all, congress does have to vote funds, confirm appointments, levy taxes. Congress can override executive fiat. It is poor form to order soldiers to shoot, bayonet or club congressmen.

Newspapermen? Sure. They merely act as eyes for the unorganized stockholders in this democracy. But not congressmen.

Excuse Us, Please

A deserved honor was bestowed upon Generals Dwight Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur when King George made them honorary Knights of the Bath. It is to be assumed that if either really desired to be known as General Sir Dwight or General Sir Douglas, Congress would grant permission. Neither is likely to ask for that dispensation, or utilize it if it should be tendered.

Something terrible should happen to us for even harboring this thought, but it is just as bad to think it as to say it, so here goes:

We'll bet dollars to doughnuts either General, on many an occasion, would gladly have given title, medal, ribbon and honorary rank for the privilege of a Night in a real Bath.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington — Dear Mr. Bradstreet Hyatt, Meriden, Connecticut:

I thought you presented the orthodox liberal position very well, although you do not profess to speak for Bruce Bliven or the New Republic, in your letter to me.

You both strive upon the theory that only one side can enjoy freedom in the conflict between the workers and the employer, for instance. The alternatives, as you see them, are that the employer be free to exploit the individual worker or the individual worker be free to exploit the business.

That is the trouble with all liberal thought in this country and the reason why it is not liberal. True liberalism and true democracy say no group should be at liberty to exploit another group.

The corporation should not be free to exploit the individual, or the unions free to exploit the corporation. You ignore the great bulk of us—the consumers who pay the bills.

The duty of true liberal government is to defend the average—the greater good for the greater numbers.

Its interest is solely the interest of the average man. Its norm is the average of all freedoms of all classes and people.

It safeguards the rights of labor no more assiduously than the rights of business, knowing that both these rights are inferior to the common rights of all.

To find where your liberalism leads you, follow it to its logical conclusion and your ultimate victory. Crown it with success.

You then have such things as John L. Lewis standing above the common good, actually able to conduct a devastating strike in wartime without punishment or any retribution whatever. He is able to ruin the price-wage policy of liberal labor government for the immediate ends of the worker—not their ultimate good, for inflation will destroy them as well as us all.

Lewis has no other interest than to keep coal miners pleased and paying dues, no responsibility to the government or the people, only the responsibility to get his men ever higher and higher pay and privileges. So also with all union leaders.

All men know these obvious truths, but no one dares speak them. Certainly no politician or Washington statesman does, because of fear of the political power that the naturally selfish (like the rest of us) union leader has amassed. Even the president of the United States in his dealings with Lewis obviously has not felt himself free of this pressure.

You should not be surprised to hear me say your view is reactionary, and illiberal. It was good liberalism back in the days of the elder LaFollette when unions were weak and oppressed and something like a Wall Street ogre in various forms and shapes, was an economic power in the land.

Management is crushed today. Only one class and group was accumulated wealth out of this war—the labor union, government made it that way.

Only the unions are free of the confiscatory wartime taxes which have and will continue to prevent any other group from acquiring wealth. You liberals forced the new millions of war workers into unions and the payment of tax-free dues, which comprise the only wealth secret from the inspection of anyone, even the government.

No one knows, therefore, how much wealth the unions have amassed out of this war, but they are buying up property here, building big office buildings, even—ironically—lending money to Evalyn MacLean, the ex-millionaire, to build a bus terminal; and buying the building which the Republican national committee could not afford to buy.

They are the bankers now, even for presidential candidates. They have the new power of wealth, the only remaining power of wealth.

In this system, the average man has about as much freedom as a mine worker in the Lewis union who might want to do his patriotic duty and return to work.

Your liberalism thus has raised by enslavement the man who works with his hands above the independent man who works with his brain. You have spurned intellectual success to embrace manual uniformity.

Bricklayers earn more than school teachers and occupy a position of more civil power in your scheme of life under their union head. You control courts and make hi-jacking legal for unions only, but a crime for every other group.

Teamsters probably earn more than the writers for your liberal magazine, the New Republic. Certainly, scrub women earn as much working for the government in Washington as some white collar clerks.

Your liberalism, which professes a devotion to learning, truthfulness and independent thinking, workshops the man who cannot read, write or think, and makes him your norm.

You have made the noble professions less profitable and less desirable for coming generations. You want to confiscate success in all lines in favor of a union norm, even reducing medicine to a wholesale government business.

The taxes you advocate put a penalty on the teacher, artist, inventor, doctor, lawyer, writer who struggles through 20 years of preparation to attain a great success. What thinker in this country has the power or actual prestige of John L. Lewis or the local political bosses?

Bees sting anyone as a means of defense; they recognize no master.

THE STORY: Derek Grady has been found murdered on the grounds of Kraiktower. The police recognize him as man wanted for kidnapping. Marthe Kraik admits he was the grandson of her housekeeper, Margaret Grady, but says nothing about the attempted elopement years ago of Derek and her granddaughter, Kathy. Connie, married to Kathy's father, has been acting strangely.

"MY POOR LITTLE BOY"

CHAPTER VII

I NOW know that while Chief Deputy Shaw was in the house that afternoon taking down our formal statements, the other deputy was still in the ravine going over the vicinity where Derek's body was found with a fine tooth comb as the saying is.

And what he found there was enough to start the telegraph wires humming between Liston, the village where we get our mail when at Kraiktower, and Chicago where Derek Grady was last seen alive. As a result one message came through that set cocky, young Sam Shaw by the ears. It blew to bits the only obvious reason for the removal of Derek Grady from this mortal scene.

However, neither Shaw nor the other deputy said anything of their finds in the ravine that afternoon. I suppose Shaw was still sore because we had deceived him about knowing Derek, and figured that if he asked any more questions we wouldn't tell him the truth anyway. And, too, at that stage, the evidence in the ravine must have seemed purely incidental to him, too.

So the two officers took photographs, packed some things in the back seat of their police cruiser and left shortly after Sam Shaw gave up trying to question Margaret.

as usual was the fact that Derek had shown up at Kraiktower—for the first time in years—right after Kathy had come down. That fact was more disturbing to me than the fact that he had been murdered. Maybe the past hadn't buried itself. I began to imagine all sorts of goings-on.

CLINT MATTISON dropped in on his way home from the hospital with his arm in a cast and self-conscious air about him. He said he had stopped to see if there was anything he could do. I noticed him eyeing Kathy with a hang-dog air.

"My grand-daughter, Miss Kraik, Mr. Mattison," I said belatedly. "I don't suppose any one thought to introduce you two this afternoon."

"I've already had the pleasure of meeting Miss Kraik," Clint Mattison said surprisingly. "But I don't suppose she remembers me."

He blushed and looked at Kathy apologetically: "It was at a party in Hollywood, Miss Kraik, last winter. I was out there for awhile; they were adapting one of my stories to the screen."

Kathy smiled brilliantly at him. "I'm afraid my memory is rude, Mr. Mattison. I don't remember you. But I am glad to meet you now."

My opinion of Clint Mattison went up several degrees. So... he had had a story screened.

AFTER dinner I went up to see Margaret and took her a bowl of soup. She hadn't been out of her room since I had told her about Derek. I pushed on the light and arranged the tray of food temptingly on a table by her bed.

"Miss Marthe," she remonstrated feebly, "you shouldn't have brought my dinner up. It ain't fitten' you should wait on me."

"Never mind about that," I said over the lump in my throat. "Just try and eat a few bites."

sight of the food made her feel worse, and begged me to take it away.

I tried to hold my voice steady. "The police have taken Derek's body to the village undertaker. Do you want to go and see him, Margaret?"

She began to whimper then like a child. Her words were hardly intelligible, broken as they were and run together. "No—no, Miss Marthe. I don't want to see him. Oh, my poor little boy... my poor little boy."

I knew then she was thinking of the mischievous boy with the laughing Irish eyes to whom we had all lost our hearts, and not of the vicious, violent man who had met death in the ravine. The police officer had said Derek was wanted for kidnapping. I wondered if Margaret knew about that. If she didn't I wasn't going to tell her. He had already heaped shame enough on her poor old head.

After a little while Margaret quit crying and asked me in a muffled whisper if I would take care of Derek.

I told her, yes, that I'd make arrangements for his funeral, and asked her if she wanted him buried in the village cemetery. Michael is buried there, he wanted to be near Kraiktower. Margaret nodded her head, yes.

As I left Margaret's room I almost bumped into Connie. She was coming out of mine, directly across the hall, and when she saw me her face flamed. She made some excuse about looking for a book that she thought had been left in my room when her things were moved.

"Did you find it?" I asked.

"No." She looked miserable. Somehow I got the impression that she hadn't been looking for a book at all, and I wondered about that. What had she been searching for with that desperate look on her face?

A little chill crept up my spine. (To Be Continued.)

He read his resignation to the West Side Congregational church on May 9. His farewell message will be given this Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. De Boer has said, "I have spent two very profitable years in working with the Ministerial association, enjoying the fellowship of the friendly folk in Dixon, and in ministering in the Congregational church."

Rev. Mr. De Boer will have a church in Belmont Heights that has just recently been built, and he will be the first full-time minister in this church, which is located in one of the new divisions which has sprung up since so many war plants have been built.

On Friday evening, a farewell party will be given for Rev. and Mrs. De Boer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hartman.

Flower Gardens of Dixon Are In Full Bloom

Speaking of beautiful flower gardens, there are many in Dixon that all flower-lovers should make special effort to see. Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Kennedy's garden at their home on Dement avenue is a fine arrangement of colorful blossoms, and the work of Mrs. Kennedy proves she has something really lovely to show for her tireless efforts.

One should not fail to see the country home of Mr. and Mrs. William Rink on the Lincoln Highway. Just now they are shipping thousands of peonies to the Chicago market.

Another garden that merits attention is that of Mrs. F. A. Sandbert of 622 South Crawford. She has thousands of irises in blossom, all colors of irises in blossom, all colors of peonies, with the whole garden a mass of blooms.

Another beautiful garden is attracting much admiration at the home of Miss Bess Pauline Eells, 405 Madison avenue, and just across the street, there is a lovely showing in the gay-colored garden of Mrs. Cora Herbst, 321 Madison avenue.

Everyone should take time to take a walk by 409 Second street to see what Miss Fannie Murphy has accomplished in the way of arrangement of colors. You will be inspired to have a garden just like this one.

To Entertain Patients—
Joy Gould, cooperating with Ralph Salzman and Victor Eichler of the Elks circus committee, today made arrangements to entertain several hundred patients at the Dixon state hospital with a special performance at the institution grounds Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Gould arranged to take practically all of his cast of performers and ring stock to the institution to provide entertainment for the unfortunate who because of tire and fuel rationing, would be unable to view the performance.

Has Miniature Circus—
John Groebner of Buffalo, Minn., many years ago turned his talents toward the development of a miniature circus, by hand-carving about 100 characters which are to be found in any of the modern circus organizations. In this task he labored for about 4,000 hours and has completed his biggest little circus now on tour. Groebner is exhibiting his handiwork at the north side circus grounds where the Jay Gould circus will present its opening performance this evening at 8 o'clock. He has been exhibiting his wonder show in all sections of the country for the past few years.

Pantelleria Kept

lost in first five months of great allied aerial offensive against Europe, 252 lost in May.

Southwest Pacific—Australia's Prime Minister Curtin says hour near for allied drive against Japanese.

Burma—RAF planes bomb Japanese on upper Chindwin river; land front quiet.

Under orders from Rome, Pantelleria's bomb-dazed garrison continued to hold out in the island's volcanic hills, and an Italian broadcast, obviously seeking to bolster morale on the Italian home front, said the defenders were "proudly accepting all privations and sacrifices."

Eisenhower Warns Garrison
Upon the garrison's refusal to surrender, allied planes again dropped a great weight of explosives on the island yesterday, underlining Gen. Eisenhower's warning that the Italians could expect only "bombing, bombardment and blockade" until they run up the white flag.

From the safety of unbombard Rome, the Italian radio boasted: "as each hour goes by, we await the enemy at Pantelleria. We are ready and waiting."

However, it was quite possible that instead of a direct assault, the allied command might have decided to make Pantelleria the subject of an experiment by blasting it into submission from the sky and sea.

The effect would be a formidable boomerang to any hopes Rome might have of making the island an "Italian Corridor," emulating Gen. Douglas MacArthur's heroic stand in the Philippines, and would emphasize the fate in store for Italy herself.

"Damned Serious Thing"

In this connection, the Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm Tidningen quoted Nazi official quarters as saying that the allied bombardment of German cities was "awful on the health and nerves of the people" and even worse than "the invasion nerve war."

Hitler's own newspaper was quoted as saying, "It's a damned serious thing."

On the Russian front, Soviet headquarters reported that the Red armies had crushed two more German feeler attacks as the Nazis continued to probe Russian defenses along the entire 1,500-mile battle line.

The latest German thrusts, forestalling the imminence of long-expected summer battles, centered around Lischansk on the Donets river and in the Smolensk sector.

Hitler's high command again reported Russian sea-borne movements against the east coast of the Sea of Azov, north of Kerch Strait, and declared that German planes destroyed 16 more Soviet landing boats yesterday.

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, June 10 (AP)—Allied air forces, steadily whittling away at axis resistance on the Mediterranean outposts, have executed new air assaults on bomb-scarred Pantelleria and Sicily in connection with a scouting raid by British Commandos against Lampedusa, it was announced today.

Striking in darkness from the sea Monday night, the Commandos tested the defenses of Lampedusa, tiny Italian prison isle 80 miles south of the invasion stepping stone of Pantelleria, and retired with light casualties after completing their mission, a headquarters communiqué said.

(A British naval communiqué issued yesterday at Malta said light surface forces had carried out a coast reconnaissance of the island Sunday night. London sources, although unable to reconcile the time difference, were inclined to believe the two announcements referred to a single amphibious operation.)

Two field guns and a number of machine-guns were said to have engaged the Commando patrol Monday night. The landing party returned to British vessels off shore, all of which escaped damage.

Allied air forces blasted Pantelleria yesterday for the 18th successive day, and a Cairo announcement said American heavy bombers ranged across the Mediterranean to attack air fields at two points on Sicily, Gerbini and Catania.

12 Enemy Planes Downed
Twelve enemy planes were reported shot down on the Pantelleria raids and at least three by the American fliers from Middle East bases. One allied plane was lost over Pantelleria.

The strength of the Pantelleria assault was not disclosed, but it underscored the allied determination, announced in a special communiqué yesterday, to blast the Italian outpost "until it collapses."

(The Italians, who yesterday ignored an allied demand for surrender of Pantelleria, declared today from the Rome radio: "as each hour goes by we await the enemy at Pantelleria. We are ready and waiting.")

From their Middle East air bases, RAF long-range fighters again swept across to the Aegean sea, where they sank two sailing vessels, left another sinking, and a fourth on its side, badly damaged. Three smaller vessels were attacked.

A final interpretation of reconnaissance photographs taken over the La Spezia naval base said decks of one of Italy's Littorio class battleships apparently were damaged by the Flying Fortress attack there Saturday.

Strike in Daylight
Identification marks on the deck had disappeared.

A dispatch from the Fortress base Saturday night said the 35,000-ton battleships Littorio, Vittorio Veneto and Roma had been damaged by hits and near misses of armor-piercing bombs.

(Fifty Liberators made up the American formations from the Middle East command which struck by daylight at the two Sicilian airdromes, it was announced in Cairo.

AERIAL WAR IN EAST

Moscow, June 10 (AP)—Increasingly vigorous air battles were reported today from widely separated points of the front as the German air force and the Soviet plane fleet fought it out in a prelude to a 1943 land offensive.

Dispatches from Bataisk, 10 miles south of Rostov, disclosed that air fighting had flared up again in the Done river valley. The vicinity of the city and the mudflats of the Don have become a cemetery for downed Junkers and Heinkel planes, it was reported, with anti-aircraft batteries scoring heavily in the struggle.

The news of the Don basin aerial war came on the heels of German raids on the Volkhov front 60 miles southeast of Leningrad, where 24 German planes were reported shot down. From 150 to 160 German planes were declared destroyed in Russian bombing raids on German airdromes Tuesday night. The Russians said they lost a total of 26 planes in the engagements.

Concentrated Attack
(The German high command communiqué said heavy German bombers made a "concerted" attack last night on an important Soviet armament plant at Yaroslavl, 160 miles northeast of Moscow on the Volga river, leaving fires burning over an extensive area.

(The communiqué, broadcast by the German radio and recorded by The Associated Press, also said that the Nazi air force destroyed 16 Russian landing boats on the east coast of the Sea of Azov yesterday and that light German naval forces sank two Russian supply vessels off the Caucasus coast. It said the land front was quiet.)

Land action played a minor role. The Soviet midnight communiqué said about 200 Germans were killed and guns, observation posts and an ammunition dump were smashed on the Smolensk front, while German positions were bombarded and a company of Germans was killed in fighting around Lisichansk, where the Germans have attempted to pierce Soviet positions on the Donets river.

SCOUTING RAID

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, June 10 (AP)—British Commandos, striking in darkness from the sea, carried out a scouting raid Monday night on the east coast of the Sea of Tunisia coast, it was announced today.

(This apparently was the second successive night night feeler thrust at Lampedusa, a Malta communiqué yesterday reported that British light naval forces had carried out a "coastal reconnaissance" of the island Sunday night, suffering no damage but losing two members of a landing party.)

The Commando patrol was said to have suffered extremely light casualties, although two field guns besides a number of machine-guns engaged them on the beach.

After accomplishing their mission, the Commandos were reported to have withdrawn to British vessels, which suffered no damage from enemy fire.

Helfrich Is Given

for three months, then became a waiter in the same building, where he remained for 15 months, serving guards and officials of the institution which upon occasion consisted of Superintendent Wallace, his wife and daughter Nancy.

Responding to questions of his counsel, he stated that he associated with other inmates of the institution, consisting of various types of criminals, one of whom was the hammer slayer of four persons, who served as an electrician in the institution. He told the court that he was not privileged to attend school at either Lincoln or Menard.

Examination Stopped

Upon cross examination by State's Attorney Pires, Helfrich admitted having been arrested in Dixon on occasions, and serving a term in the St. Charles training school for boys. Judge Dixon sustained objection by defense counsel of the examination of this character. In answer to a question by the state's attorney, Helfrich admitted that he did not attempt to attend school in Dixon in 1939 or 1940 before his commitment to Lincoln.

Managing Officer Wallace was called as an adverse witness as he was named as one of the defendants in the action and was a state witness. He explained the several classes of patients confined at Menard. Helfrich, he stated, was received upon a transfer order from Lincoln to Menard issued by the department of public welfare. In answer to questions Superintendent Wallace stated that Helfrich was no behavior problem, that he performed his duties well with no complaints being registered against him while under strict and constant supervision. He expressed his opinion as a layman and not a sociologist that Helfrich might be adjusted under strenuous supervision.

Judge Dixon asked the witness if he believed that army training would serve to adjust Helfrich, which brought an affirmative answer. In reply to further questions by the court Superintendent Wallace stated that he had observed Helfrich recently which referred to the release of patients for military service, but added that he had received no such orders at Menard. Many of the patients, however, have been released and are now serving in the armed forces and reports indicate that they are making excellent soldiers, he added. He stated his opinion that Helfrich was above the average for military service as there were no reports of violation of the rules of the institution since his admission at Menard or failure to cooperate.

Ordered Released

A brief recess was taken after which Superintendent Wallace again resumed the witness stand to answer questions by the court. Judge Dixon's examination disclosed the fact that Helfrich had submitted to an examination on June 8 at Menard and Superintendent Wallace read the findings of the two examiners, which found that Helfrich was not feeble minded and recommended his release.

At the request of Judge Dixon, Dr. Harry Hoffman, state alienist took the witness stand and substantiated the report of the examiners. State's Attorney Pires informed the court that in face of the report which appeared a short time previous, that no further defense would be offered, whereupon Judge Dixon ordered that Helfrich be released.

The second of the four petitions from Menard to be heard, that of Walter Kendzior of Chicago, was scheduled to be heard at 1 o'clock. The petitioner is represented by Attorney Elwin Wadsworth who was appointed by the court.

Just prior to the first hearing today, Marie Brown, Dixon state hospital patient, who is represented by Arthur G. Harris, was present in court awaiting action on her petition seeking release. Judge Dixon continued the hearing until later in the day, hoping to dispose of the four cases from Menard in one continuous session.

Declares Striking

rupted twice by walkouts in recent weeks.

One Obstacle Remains

One obstacle, affecting every consumer of coal, stood in the way of final settlement. Lewis said the Pennsylvania pact was contingent "on necessary approval of prices permitting the agreement to become effective."

In other words, the operators consent to hike wages if they can get more money per ton.

O'Neill explained his group's action by saying that the members found it necessary to "make the mine workers some kind of an offer." The industry should have an agreement for a stated period of time in order that the mines might be returned to their owners, he said. They have been operated by the government, through Interior Secretary Ickes, since May 1.

It is understood that underground travel time was reckoned by O'Neill and Lewis at $1.50 a day for inside men. By giving outside workers the benefit of any raise, the overall average per ton would be brought down to about $1.30, informed sources said. Outside men constitute from 10 to 20 per cent of the total employees.

Lewis called the O'Neill offer the "first bona fide and constructive offer of a new wage agreement" to emanate from the three months of conferences.

O'Neill's group was estimated to represent 58,000,000 annual tons of soft coal production. The operators remaining in the conference turn out 365,000 tons.

Illinois operators, not connected with the Appalachian conference, have offered 23,000 union miners in that state a boost of $1.50 a day for the underground travel compensation. And Indiana miners have said such an offer would suit them.

VACATION PAY UPPED

Springfield, Ill., June 10 (AP)—An increase from $20 to $50 for one-week vacation pay was agreed upon today as representatives of the Progressive Mine Workers of America and the Illinois Coal Producers Association continued wage negotiations.

PMWA president Lloyd A. Thrush, who announced operators had agreed to the vacation pay raise, said a proposed $1.60 daily portal-to-portal wage increase "for conferees, but expressed hope that they might be ready to submit a new basic wage proposal to the War Labor Board late this week.

Thrush said that the PMWA representatives were centering efforts on the $1.60 increase for time spent going to and from work. The previous PMWA bid for $2 to $3 per day boosts, he pointed out, had been frowned upon by the WLB as well as operators.

The requested $1.60 portal-to-portal rate is ten cents higher than that offered by operators to Illinois United Mine Workers of America earlier this week.

Stephenson Circuit Clerk Indicted by County Grand Jury

John E. Miller, 65, clerk of the Stephenson county Circuit court for the past 18 years, was named defendant in eight indictments returned in Circuit court before Judge Harry E. Wheat Wednesday. He will be arraigned at 10 a. m. Friday before Judge Wheat.

Three of the true bills charge him with embezzlement of funds entrusted to his custody as the court clerk and recorder; three allege falsification of expense book records, and two charge falsification of semi-annual reports to the board of supervisors.

Freed on $8,000 Bond
Bond in each case was set at $1,000 and Miller furnished $8,000 in open court. The state charges that over a period of several years, Miller appropriated for his own use, funds entrusted to his care, that he allegedly inserted payments in his expense books to persons to whom payments were not in fact made and that the reports were false.

The alleged discrepancies were discovered after an audit of the books of the county offices. The audit allegedly showed shortage of $3,426.10 as of June 1, 1943. After this amount was set up by the auditors, Miller made restitution.

He is serving his fifth term as circuit clerk. Under the law he can continue to serve as court clerk until he is convicted or pleads guilty, authorities said.

ment director's supervision and that Brandon's record as an administrator has been unchallenged.

House in Night Session

Meanwhile the house labored through a night session and planned to continue through Friday. The senate planned to adjourn tonight until next Tuesday, after an unusual day during which Democrats put over the administration's so-called equal pay for women bill which most GOP members rebuffed.

Making it plain they were supporting it in hopes that the house might strengthen its provisions, 14 Democrats joined 12 Republicans to give the modified labor-sponsored measure the minimum 26 votes for passage. The bill has been changed five times into what Democrats called "a camouflage that never will be enforced."

Repeal of the 1941 judges pension act received little support in the house and its sponsor, Rep. Harry L. Topping (R-Kankakee) quickly postponed consideration. He said he would ask for another roll call later.

Senate Passes Bills

Approved by the senate and shuttled to the house were bills to create a commission to survey higher education in the state, to revise the licensing of public accountants, to increase from six months to one year the maximum penalty for vagrancy convictions, and to permit county welfare departments to administer federal-state blind assistance funds under supervision of the state welfare department. Similar blind assistance bills meanwhile won house approval.

The house passed 108 to 0 and sent to the senate a bill to modernize along actuarial lines the firemen pension programs in cities of 10,000 to 100,000 population.

George C. Brown, secretary treasurer of the Associated Fire Fighters of Illinois, and George Mulligan, Jr., Chicago pension attorney, said the proposed law would "replace the old pension system which in many communities has broken down for lack of funds."

Under it firemen would contribute an average of four and one-half per cent of their salaries to a pension fund instead of the present one per cent, they said. Cities now contribute from .03 to .5 mill per dollar of assessed valuation. Under the proposed plan most would contribute .5 mill, although the total could be raised to one and one-half mill by referendum.

16-Year-Old Railroad Worker Given Medal

Champaign, Ill., June 10 (AP)—Clytus Swank, 16, of Melvin, has received a medal from the Illinois Central railroad system for having prevented a wreck of a Chicago-St. Louis freight train during the night of April 27.

J. G. Willingham, division superintendent, said Swank, one of the youngest telegraph operators on the system, saw a block signal had turned red just before the freight was due through Melvin. When he discovered several large government grain bins had blown over onto the main track he set fuses to warn the train, telegraphed the dispatcher, telephoned the section foreman, then flagged down the freight.

The railroad gave Swank credit for "avoiding an accident and giving considerable assistance in clearing the main track."

The War Today

come quickly and it might drag on for months.

So far as concerns Pantelleria, that small but powerful Italian fortress stands right in the middle of the narrow channel between Sicily and the African mainland. It must be knocked out before allied shipping can operate freely in those waters for the larger operations. Lampedusa, which lies not far from Pantelleria, also is a thorn in the side of water-borne traffic, although in a less degree.

The great islands of Sicily and Sardinia are a particular menace to the narrow ship lane which runs between Sicily and Tunisia. For that reason it is logical to believe that the allies will deal with them before proceeding to bigger problems.

Finally, in considering the question of time required for major amphibious operations, we mustn't overlook the vastness of the preparations required. It takes a huge fleet to move even a moderate sized army to the scene of action, and keep it supplied with munitions and food. It also demands great aerial and naval support.

some 150 persons have been injured in the past few days. The majority of the zoo-suiters arrested, police records show, have been youths of Mexican descent.

In San Diego, groups of service men, numbering from a dozen to 300 or 400, roamed the downtown streets last night, on the lookout for zoo-suiters reported to be infiltrating from Los Angeles. More than 100 Sailors and Marines stormed down a main street after several youths wearing the outlandish garb, but the zoo-suiters fled before fists began to swing.

WAAC Officer

Lieut. Elizabeth R. Gage (above), junior officer of the WAAC recruiting detail, which is in Dixon this week and making appointments at the post offices in Oregon, Mount Morris and Polo today and tomorrow, was graduated from Northwestern University at Evanston, and had worked for the war department before joining the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. She is assigned to recruiting duty in the Sixth Service Command.
The urgent need for great numbers of recruits for the Corps was stressed by Third Officer Cornelia Groenveld, who is heading the recruiting team.
Third Officer Groenveld, whose rank compares with that of a second lieutenant in the Army, stated that in order to attain the quotas established by Congress last November, it will be necessary to recruit at last 5,000 women in Illinois alone before the first of July.
She expressed confidence that these quotas will be met, saying that the records established by Illinois in war bond purchases, scrap collection drives, enlistment records in other branches of the service, and other patriotic programs, indicate that the midwestern women will respond in like manner to the call to don uniforms.
Wide Range of Jobs
Women are needed, she said, to replace able bodied men in virtual every branch of the Army, both in this country and abroad. A wide range of specific jobs are included in the WAAC program. Stenographers, office workers, clerks, are needed in great numbers, WAACs, too, are replacing men cooks and bakers. As other job opportunities develop they are being assigned to the WAAC. WAACs are doing splendid jobs as photographic and radio technicians, and are thoroughly schooled for these jobs before being assigned to active duty.
Parachute riggers are being replaced by the WAACs, who are doing more efficient work in this branch of the service because of the extreme accuracy required.
Officials of the Army Air Force say they have more than 200,000 jobs which could be filled by trained members of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.
In addition to the many demands made by every branch of the service for WAAC personnel, officers in England have required that the United States send over 5000 more WAACs to take over base jobs.
The mobilization of American women is far behind that of the women in the enemy countries, Third Officer Groenveld—pointed out.
The requirements for enrollment in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps are simple. The applicant must be a citizen of the United States, be between the ages of 21 and 44 inclusive, have at least two years of high school education, have no children under 14 years of age and be able to pass physical and mental alertness tests.
Third Officer Groenveld and other WAAC officers and auxiliaries will be located at Rock River Production Credit Assn., Peoria and First street, to take the applications of women desiring to serve their country through the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.
The recruiters will be at the town halls in Polo and Mount Morris and the city hall in Oregon until 6:30 o'clock this evening and from 10:00 a. m. until 6:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Rationing Official Resigns in Protest

East St. Louis, Ill., June 10.—(AP)—In a controversy with state OPA Director Carter Jenkins over an OPA rule, E. C. Singers yesterday quit his post on the food panel of the East St. Louis rationing board.

The quarrel-provoking rule is a requirement that applications for replacement of stolen or lost ration books should not be handled independently by local boards, but forwarded to the state office for consideration.

This procedure "deprives an honest citizen of the right to purchase food for a period of two weeks simply because his ration book has been lost or stolen," Singers said in a letter of resignation. "I think this is an outrage and the act of a tyrannical dictator."

Modern Recipes

—By—
MRS. GAYNOR MADOX
NEA Service Writer

Recent surveys show that a great many women and far too many men who work in industrial plants do not eat enough lunch either for health or for steady work. Women, particularly, seem ignorant of the fact that their lunch box should contain enough balanced food to constitute one-third of their daily food requirements.

There are many well-designed lunch boxes now on the market. They contain thermos jugs in various sizes which can keep soups, stews, macaroni and cheese and other dishes hot until needed, or other foods cold until needed. There are thermos bottles for hot soup, tea, coffee, and other liquid food and beverages which the worker needs for his or her lunch.

Paper containers are important, too, in packing the worker's lunch box. They can be filled with salads, with cut-up fruit, salad dressings, cooked fruits and other desserts. Paper cups are light and take up little room, but contribute materially to the enjoyment of the midday meal for the hard worker.

Summer meals must be substantial, contain some hot food and be well balanced. Just because the day is hot, do not get the idea that the body needs less food. Use fruits and fruit juices, plenty of greens, too. But also eat some hot dish and some main dish such as baked beans, cheese or meat, eggs or fowl or fish, prepared in sandwiches, cooked in stews, or mixed with salad greens.

Sample Menus
Here are a few sample menus for the balanced war workers lunch box. Study them carefully.

1. Black bean soup, dried beef and hard-cooked egg with mayonnaise sandwich on enriched bread, whole tomato, raisin and honey sandwich on enriched bread, cookies, strawberries in paper container, beverage.

2. Potato and onion soup, peanut butter sandwiches on enriched hard rolls, fresh fruit salad, beverage.

3. Fish stew, whole wheat crackers, jelly sandwiches on enriched bread, fruit cookies, prunes stuffed with cream cheese, beverage.

4. Tomato and lemon juice, meat loaf sandwiches on whole wheat bread, tart jelly sandwiches on enriched white bread, celery, cottage cheese in container, peanut cookies, beverage.

Scotch Beef and Kidney Pie
One pound ground meat, 1 beef kidney, 2-3 cups quick cooking oats, 4 tablespoons vitaminized margarine, 1 onion finely chopped, 3 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Mix ground meat, quick cooking oats, 1 teaspoon salt with about 1/2 cup of water and form into small balls. Brown these in 2 tablespoons of vitaminized margarine until they are brown on all sides. After soaking the kidney for a half hour in salted water, cut the lobes apart, making small pieces and remove the fat. Dredge the pieces in flour and sauté in 2 tablespoons of vitaminized margarine adding the onion and cooking until both are a rich brown. Add 1/2 cup of water and simmer until the kidney browns again, then add 2 cups of water (or tomatoes, if desired), 2 teaspoons salt and the Worcestershire sauce. Simmer until tender. Add the meat balls and turn into a deep casserole lined with pie crust.

Oatmeal Pie Crust

One and one-half cups enriched all-purpose flour, 1 cup quick-cooking oats, 1 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup melted vitaminized margarine. Sift and measure the flour, add the oats and salt and stir in the melted margarine. Add about 5 tablespoons of water and mix lightly with a fork. Divide the dough and roll both pieces to 1/4-inch thickness. Press one piece into the 2-inch casserole to make a lining. Fill with beef and kidney mixture. Moisten top edge of crust and trim the edges. Cut vents with small cookie cutter in the top layer of dough and place on top of casserole. Attach the cut-out pieces to the top crust by moistening one side with a bit of water. Bake 40 to 45 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees F.)

Dried Fruit Munchers

Make small balls of dried fruit put through the meat chopper, and moistened slightly with orange juice. Pack in a covered waxed paper container.

The between-meals snacks should be adjusted to the weather. Here's a hot day fruit compote containing calories, vitamins and minerals.

Rhubarb Boysenberry Compote
One-third cup water, 1 cup sugar, 1 box (14 ounces) quick-frozen rhubarb, 1 box (13 ounces) quick-frozen boysenberries, 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Mix water and sugar and bring to a boil, add frozen rhubarb and cook until tender. Remove from fire. Add frozen boysenberries and lemon juice, cover, and let stand until boysenberries are thawed. Chill before serving. Pack your war worker's share in a waxed paper container and chill in refrigerator before putting them in lunch box.

Brains With Spinach Sauce
One pair brains (calf, beef or lamb), salt, beaten egg cracker crumbs, butter or other fat.

Sauce
Cooked spinach, butter or table fat, salt, sour cream.

Soak brains in water one hour. Remove membrane; drain. Sprinkle with salt and let stand 15 minutes. Slice and dip into egg and then cracker crumbs. Fry very slowly in butter or other fat; cover for a few minutes at the end to insure thorough cooking.

To make sauce: chop cooked spinach very fine and combine with a little table fat, salt and enough sour cream to make sauce of proper consistency.

Sauerkraut and Bologna Casserole
One onion, chopped, 1/2-pound table fat, flour, 1 1/2 pounds sauerkraut, drained, 1 cup stock, 1 cup cubed bologna, 1/2 cup chopped mushrooms, 1/2 cup chopped black olives, if desired.

Fry chopped onion in fat until golden brown. Add a little flour and brown. Add sauerkraut. Added cubed bologna, mushrooms and black olives. Heat and serve in a casserole.

Kidneys and Mushrooms

One ounce butter or table fat, 2 kidneys, 2 mushrooms, minced, 1/2 onion, minced, 1/2 teaspoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon sherry or 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon water, salt and pepper. Heat fat in frying pan; split kidney lengthways, remove membranes, and fry 2 or 3 minutes. Add minced mushrooms, onions, parsley, sherry or lemon juice and water, salt and pepper to taste. Stew very gently until kidney is tender, about 10 minutes. Serve with pan gravy.

Buckwheat Porridge (Kasha) (Serves 6)

One and one-half cups buckwheat (grains), 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups boiling water. Cook buckwheat in greased frying pan until brown, about 2 or 3 minutes, stirring constantly to prevent scorching. Stir into boiling salted water and cook in top of double boiler 2 1/2 hours. When done, the individual grains of buckwheat will separate easily. Serve hot or cold in bowls with milk. Or reheat in frying pan and serve with butter, or serve plain with meat or fowl.

Biscuit Pirozhki

One-half cup buckwheat groats cooked with egg, 2 onions minced, 1 cup left-over ground meat, salt and pepper, 1/2 cup sour cream.

Make a biscuit dough according to your favorite recipe. Roll thin, cut in 2 by 4 inch strips.

To make fillings: prepare buckwheat groats according to buckwheat porridge recipe given above. Combine with sautéed onions, ground meat, salt and pepper and sour cream. Place filling on the strips of dough and pinch edges of dough together. Cut into 1-inch slices. Bake 25 minutes in 350 degrees F. oven.

Lunch Box Salad

Mix together julienne strips of green pepper, sliced celery, cucumber (if desired), very thinly sliced carrots and white turnips. Serve with lettuce or escarole. Pack mayonnaise or French dressing in a small covered waxed paper container.

Be sure to cream butter for sandwiches so that it will spread easily and go farther. American Cheddar sandwiches are delicious when spread with butter to which finely chopped parsley has been added. Sweet pickle relish is good, too, in these sandwiches.

Great Lakes Ball Club Sporting 1,000 Mark

Great Lakes, Ill., June 10 — (AP)—The 1943 Great Lakes baseball team, with many changes in the lineup from last season, is getting off to an even better start than the 1942 club, sporting a 1,000 mark in its first 13 games.

But the sailors still have a long way to go to equal the 24 consecutive wins scored by the 1942 club early in the season. The Naval training station team hasn't lost a game since last Aug. 19, finishing the season with seven straight victories and keeping the string unbroken in all its games this year. The Sailors' latest victims were the Chicago Cubs.

Last year's team won 63 and lost 14 games for a .818 mark.

Fair Enough
by
WESTBROOK PEGLER

Denver.—John L. Lewis is said to have struck against the government of the United States. That is a false and timorous estimate of the case by editorialists afraid to face the truth and a deliberate lie by new deal politicians who know better.

Lewis did not strike. In accordance with the new deal party's union laws, court decisions and teaching, he simply refused to work without a contract. In any normal case of similar facts and equal merit, between a union and an employer in private enterprise Lewis would have been upheld. The government would have encouraged him, even to rioting.

It is set forth that the government was the employer in this case.

The government was not the employer. The government did, however, resort to another of the clever little schemes, having the color of legality, which the rule of chicanery has substituted for honest dealing.

The mines still belong to their original owners. The government seized them for no reason that could legitimately justify their seizure. The government took them over only as a raw and flagrant subterfuge to place itself in the technical but illegal status of employer of the miners.

Does anyone have the effrontery to say that by this act of seizure the government became the owner of the mines? That would be confiscation and on that precedent the government could confiscate all the property in the United States merely by conspiring with union bosses to refuse to work those properties without contracts or to strike in violation of contracts.

Not being the owner of the properties, the government therefore was not and is not the employer and the miners have not struck against the government for they have not struck at all. Nor have they even refused to work for the government, for the government is not in any honest way their employer and the miners know it.

But, if it should come to that, why shouldn't Lewis and the miners strike against the government? Hasn't Lewis been encouraged, time and again, by the new deal party to strike, riot and pillage against the lawful established government, the public authority and the peace and security of the United States?

John L. Lewis once was president of the CIO.

Has everyone forgotten that hour in the organization strike of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee when 40,000 of his coal miners threatened to march into a Pennsylvania city where there was no dispute between employees and employer but only a fight between predatory CIO union leaders and the workers and Lewis uttered the pious hope that surely some authority in the United States could avert the impending bloodshed?

The unorganized steel workers had made no threats. Who, then, was going to shed the blood? Have we forgotten what the civil disorder known as the organization strike was? If so, be it remembered that the organization strike was organized terror, sanctioned by the new deal government, in which murderous rioters, vandals, and openly anti-American revolutionaries crossed state lines by concerted action to slay, slug and threaten free workmen and intimidate their women and children, and to smash and shatter property owned by unoffending citizens so that workers who declined to join the unions of John L. Lewis would be forced in or die by violence or starvation. Either they joined out of fear or the employers compelled them to join against their will, contrary to the pettifol preamble of the vicious Wagner act.

The CIO in those days ran organization strikes in many American communities. In one city in Michigan a band of imported terrorists pulled the master switches of the municipal power plant, shutting off all current even to hospitals, and then went into hiding so that their frightened subjects, employed in the plant, and the city authorities, who personified orderly American government, could not find them to entreat them to rescind their decree. The governor of Michigan, Frank Murphy, whom President Roosevelt, in reward for his delinquency, elevated to the Supreme Court of the United States, submitted to this and other acts of organized violent rebellion against the government which he had sworn to uphold.

Justice Murphy submitted when the CIO mobbed Detroit, overruling all local authority, and he raised no hand to uphold lawful government in communities within his state when elements of the CIO, under John L. Lewis, established cordons of imported goons all ready to kill if challenged by law-abiding Americans, all armed with clubs at least and many with deadlier weapons, to keep workers from their jobs and seized the plants, and in sheer wanton vandalism, wrecked machinery and materials worth millions. There was no labor dispute there between employer and employees. It was just the CIO's way of slave-hunting by terror under license from the new deal party and its Michigan vicery.

Those were the days, those were the occasions, when the new deal party of President Roosevelt, directly represented by Frank Murphy as a new deal governor, gave John L. Lewis tacit permission to ride down lawful government.

So even if we concede today, as nobody must, that his refusal to work the mines without a contract was a strike against the nation, who was it who taught him that lawful government in the U. S. A. is inferior to his own will, however violent and dangerous to the country.

Rumors Concerning
WAACS Strongly
Denied by Stimson

Washington, June 10—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that "sinister rumors aimed at destroying the reputation" of the WAACS through charges of immorality "are absolutely and completely false."

"I refer," Stimson said at a press conference, "to charges of immorality and particularly to the allegation that the war department has agreed to the issuance of contraceptives and prophylactic equipment to the members of this corps."

He added that "anything which would interfere with their recruiting or destroy the reputation of the corps and, by so doing, interfere with increase in the combat strength of our Army, would be of value to the enemy. The reputation of any unfounded rumor concerning this corps lessens confidence in it and is actually an aid to the enemy."

The strength of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, Stimson said, has reached 65,000, releasing soldiers for front-line duty to the extent of four combat divisions. "As a yardstick," he added, "our combat ground force in the Tunisian campaign consisted of just four divisions."

Rumors "Completely False"
"The authorized strength of this corps is 150,000 and since the objective behind the enlistment of the corps is to relieve able-bodied soldiers for combat duty, you can well see that we are speaking now of a sizeable increase in our fighting forces."

The secretary asserted emphatically that any reflection on the WAACS "is in essence a reflection on the whole of American womanhood; for these 65,000 women are a cross section of the womenhood of our nation."

"They are teachers who taught your children; the wives, sweethearts, sisters, and even mothers of the men who are today fighting to save our freedom. When they are maligned, when vicious rumors destroy their reputations, the effects could reach into our very front lines, injuring the morale of the Army itself. The story of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps is already a fine chapter in the story of American womanhood."

"I emphasize the fact that I have made a thorough investigation of all these rumors. They are completely false."

25 Oldest Blind in Macon County To Get
$40 From An Estate

Houston, Tex., June 10—(AP)—The will of Mrs. Minnie Louella MacDonald, a native of Decatur, Ill., provides $1,000 to be divided among the 25 oldest blind persons in Decatur or Macon county, Ill.

A 113-acre farm near Elwin, Ill., was left to Mrs. MacDonald's niece, and various Decatur organizations were to receive financial aid, according to the 26-page, handwritten will which was admitted to probate yesterday.

The organizations are the Girls' Welfare Home, the Ann Rutledge home for colored children, the Anna B. Millikin home, the Decatur Colored church, the Antioch Colored church, the Women's Relief Corps, Women's Club, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Central Christian church, and the Salvation Army.

Mrs. MacDonald was born in Decatur, and was the widow of John Joseph MacDonald of New York City. She died May 12 in Houston where she had lived in a downtown hotel for a decade. Her estate was valued in excess of $10,000, according to the probate application.

(Uses bean stock)
1 cup lima beans (fresh or dried), cooked
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

3 tablespoons flour
1-3 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 cup milk
2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
1-2 cup diced cooked celery

1-2 cup dried crumbs

1-3 cup grated sharp cheese
Melt butter and add flour and seasonings. Stir in milk, eggs, celery, onions and bean stock. Simmer 5 minutes. Stir frequently, add beans and pour into buttered shallow baking dish. Cover with crumbs blended with cheese. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. If desired, dish can be placed under broiler for 10 minutes. Have broiler at least 6 inches below flame to prevent scorching. This is a quick way to brown top.

der and salt. Cut in shortening with a knife or crumble with fingers. The blend should be the consistency of coarse meal. Slowly add milk until soft dough forms. Pat out on floured board until about 1-2 inch thick. Use a sharp knife, often dipped in cold water, and cut into bars three by one-half inches in size. Place rest of ingredients in shallow pan and add sticks spaced one-half inch apart. Bake 10 minutes in moderate oven. Remove pan from oven and let stand 5 minutes in warm place. Turn out the sticks, sticky sides up.

dean of Hollywood's powder men. Hoffman's first celluloid battle was in "The Birth of a Nation" 32 years ago. He has been shooting up things ever since through "All Quiet on the Western Front" to the current war films, such as "Wake Island," "For Whom the Bell Tolls" and "The Hour Before the Dawn."
Walter Hoffman learned about powder in the army. He joined the engineers in 1898, helped install the first guns on Corregidor. In 32 years of celluloid warfare, he's never injured an actor seriously, but he's almost killed himself four times. Once he collapsed a mountainside on himself, breaking one arm in 14 places and fracturing his leg at the hip. Last year, creating something new in powder for technicolor, the stuff went off and put him in the hospital for three weeks.
Hoffman says he has "killed" about 200,000 men during his career of destruction in Hollywood. "You gotta be careful," is the way he sums up his job. "You gotta be careful somebody doesn't get hurt."
STORY OF SCOUNDREL
Latest "inside story" about Nazidom, "Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, His Life and Loves," will go before Hollywood's cameras soon with the idea of proving that the nazis are the shrewdest scoundrels in the world and "not horror men or dopes." Two men behind the idea are Chicago-born Alfred Zeisler, self-styled "father confessor" for German film actresses, who for nine years was a producer-director for the UFA film company in Berlin, and W. R. Frank, Minneapolis chain-theater owner. It's Zeisler's story—Frank's money.
Before fleeing Germany in 1936, Zeisler learned a lot about Goebbels. The German movie industry was under his supervision.
"He visited the studios as often as he could," says Zeisler. "He had a suave way with women—he could make or break any actress in Germany. Several actresses made me sort of a 'father confessor.' They told me about their experiences with Goebbels, they asked my advice — many tears were shed in my office and quite a number of conflicts and tragedies unveiled."
Zeisler and Frank will cast an unknown in the role of Goebbels, but would like a "name" star for the role of the German actress, "Jean Arthur has read the script," Frank says. "She likes it and there's a good chance she will play the part."
PARTICULAR ABOUT PARTS
Oca Homolka, who lays Ambassador Litvinov in "Mission to Moscow," has appeared in only five motion pictures since he arrived in Hollywood in 1937 after starting for 10 years on the European screen and stage and in British films. Studios have called repeatedly, but Homolka is a difficult man to please. He can say no to a four-figure salary if he doesn't like the role.
"It has to be something about something," says Homolka. "I can't take myself seriously in a role that means nothing to me."
Oscar Homolka can afford to wait for "something about something" roles, such as Litvinov in "Mission," his next as a Quisling in "Hostages," and his three other Hollywood characterizations, the beachcomber in "Ebb Tide," the night club owner in "Seven Sinners" and one of the seven professors in "Ball of Fire." Homolka takes himself seriously, honestly.

The situation on attempts to control food prices at the present moment can best be described as "government by yes and no." Few decisions are made definitely "yes." Few decisions are made definitely "no." Practically all decisions, whether on wages, prices, or taxes, have been made with apparent idea of trying to keep everybody happy with a "yes and no" answer.

The trouble isn't lack of a principle on which to operate. The principles on which the anti-inflation campaign was to be fought were stated definitely by the president in his Seven-Point Program of April 27, 1942, restated by the President's Hold-That-Line order of April 8, 1943.

The trouble has come through failure to execute those noble aims by decisive action. Too much compromise. Too much "yes and no." Three cases may illustrate what is meant:

1. There is a fundamental difference of opinion between Office of Price Administration and War Food Administration on food price control. OPA says "yes," we must have price ceilings at all levels. The WFA idea seems to be "yes," if price ceilings are high enough to encourage production, but "no" if price ceilings are to be applied to the growers. Practically every food price ceiling which OPA has proposed has been questioned by WFA and has had to be referred to the Office of Economic Stabilization for decision.

2. If ceilings are to be applied on wholesale and retail food prices but not on growers' prices, the only way in which such economic juggling can be achieved is through payment of subsidies, yet on the subsidy question there is more yesing and noing than on any other phase of the price attempted control program.

Authority for subsidies is in the Price Control Act, passed by Congress, yes. The Attorney General gave an opinion last August, on a canned tomato juice question, that government subsidies are legal, yes. Subsidies have been a part of the RFC program since 1940, yes. Commodity Credit Corporation is now paying subsidies to food canners, yes.

But Congress on subsidies says "no." Recently it has written in prohibitions against the use of Lend-Lease and CCC funds for subsidies and has before it a bill to prohibit the payment of subsidies on food products without Congressional approval. And War Food Administrator Chester C. Davis has declared that general dependence on a broad subsidy program, to hold prices, would be dangerous. Another "no."

3. Food canners today are losing food, throwing it away, because they can't get labor. The reason they can't get labor is that wages in the canning industry have been frozen at a level so low they can't compete with better paying industries. In some regional War Labor Board offices, approval has been given to pay a higher wage rate, yes.

To pay these added wages, the canners say there must be an up in ceiling prices on their products to pay for the increased labor costs. Approval for such price increases must come from OPA. Yet within OPA there is a "yes and no" battle going on which prevents the making of any decision on this issue.

WFA ON SIDELINES

One group in OPA says "yes," give them price increases to cover their added costs, but no more. The other group says "no," price ceilings must be held at present levels and the inference is that the canners can go jump in one of their kettles and stew in their own juice.

War Food Administration sits on the sidelines in this dispute, feeling rather desperate about the situation, wondering how more food is going to be produced in the heavy canning season coming up if a solution can't be found in the light asparagus and spinach canning season now at hand.

Maybe it is unpatriotic to bring these things up to show how your government monkeys around. Maybe this is just the democratic process in action, striving to find the best possible solution. You may hope that's the answer, but it certainly isn't out of order to mention that there's a war on and time's a-wastin'.

An important letter from S. A. Pearson.

To the Editor:
I would feel grateful if you would grant me space in your valued journal for the following letter, the subject of which is of importance owing to the nazis abolishing Scripture reading and religious instruction in the public schools of the countries they have conquered. This has had the effect of arousing some attention to the need in the free countries of making more use of the Bible in the public schools as a book which emphasizes liberty, justice and kindness, and will help to counteract nazi anti-Christian doctrines.

Morace Mann, founder of the American Board Schools, stated that the Bible may be read in the Board schools, without note or comment.

Certain Professors in American and British Universities, also Headmasters of Council, or schools in England, are agreed that a system of elementary education which does not provide for imparting some knowledge of the Bible is not a complete system of education. Also Educationists are agreed that the chief aim of education is the formation of character, but character cannot be formed without using the Bible ideals. Movements for introducing daily Bible reading into the schools are being taken up in various states in the U. S. A., owing no doubt to the activities of the Gideons, who are placing hundreds of free copies of the Revised Version of the Bible in the public schools and as the churches in your state will no doubt be considering the Bible-in-schools question owing to the Bible not being read in all the schools of your state, and where read, the state teacher is not supplied with a syllabus of Bible lessons. Therefore, I take the liberty of describing the English plan: England in 1870 adopted the American School Board plan of Bible instruction. Today, in England, the first half-hour is spent in prayer, hymn singing and Bible reading. The education board of each county supplies its teachers with a Bible syllabus, which contains a list of chapters and verses to be read daily, also parts to be memorized, such as the Ten Commandments, Proverbs, etc. Each scholar has a school Bible; some of these are presented to the schools to celebrate any historic event. Children whose parents object may be excused from the Bible lesson, doing other work meanwhile. No sectarian or dogmatic teaching is allowed. The London School Bible syllabus includes a list of Old Testament lessons for the use of Jewish scholars, provided there are sufficient Roman Catholic children to form a class. The above plan has worked for 70 years without causing friction.

Those interested in Negro schools should get their board of education to secure a copy of the Bible syllabus used in the Negro schools of Kingston, Jamaica; it is a good syllabus. The late President McKinley said that if the churches were behind a movement, he felt it was bound to succeed. In Switzerland, Germany (1920), and Alsace-Lorraine (1920) attempts were made to sweep religious instructions and Bible reading out of the day schools; immediately Protestant and Roman Catholic churches united and fought the proposals with success. Also, throughout the British empire the churches have always organized to get some measure of Bible reading in the public schools.

As your state has a direct legislation law, the W. C. T. U. could easily get sufficient signatures on petitions lists to have a state-wide and a local option vote taken on Bible-in-schools. Why I suggest a local option vote is because California in 1916 took a state-wide vote on Bible reading.

in schools, which was carried for Los Angeles by 20,000 votes but the San Francisco vote killed it; therefore, if a local option vote had been taken Los Angeles would have Bible reading in schools today.

A minority say that Bible reading in schools without note or sectarian comment would mean an alliance of Church and State. The Pilgrim Fathers who were persecuted by a State church, did not think so, for they placed the Bible in the schools of New England. Also the following countries, with no state church, allow Bible reading in their schools, viz: Germany (before Hitler), Canada, Australia, South Africa and Brazil. It is also stated by some that, owing to the mixed population in U. S. A., it would not be wise to have Bible-in-schools, but it is not to be forgotten that this cosmopolitan population has large come from Europe where Scripture instruction is given in all the schools (before Hitler). The only countries which prohibit Scripture reading in schools are Russia and France.

Peoria Attorney Is Missing Since June 1

Peoria, Ill., June 9.—(AP)—Search for Walter W. Donley, 45, Peoria attorney who has been missing since June 1, continued today as federal, county and city authorities joined forces. His car was found abandoned yesterday, and government agents checked it for fingerprints in the belief he might have been kidnapped or had met foul play.

Asst. U. S. Dist. Attorney Michael Shore said Donley was subpoenaed as a witness in a federal case the day he disappeared. In that case Louis Drew, Collinsville, was indicted under the national stolen property act, the indictment charging he brought to Peoria $15,000 of $65,000 allegedly stolen from the Cummings Manufacturing Co., St. Louis, in January, 1942.

Donley had been engaged as Drew's attorney. Donley is married and father of a high school girl.
